

Proponent Testimony on House Bill 333
Stephen Palmer on behalf of The Ohio Society of CPAs
Ohio House Ways & Means Committee
June 5, 2018

Chairman Schaffer, Vice Chair Scherer, Ranking Member Rogers and members of the House Ways & Means Committee, I'm Stephen Palmer, CPA, State and Local Tax Manager at Plante Moran. I'm here today in my capacity as a member of the State and Local Tax (SALT) Committee for the Ohio Society of CPAs. Thank you for this opportunity to speak as a proponent for House Bill 333.

This legislation would permit married taxpayers filing a joint state income tax return to claim an enhanced joint filer credit that would effectively allow the couple to reduce their tax liability to no more than they would owe on a combined basis from filing separately. The proposed credit would be the difference between the taxpayers' tax liability when filing jointly, prior to calculating the credit, and their combined tax liabilities if they filed separately.

In the Society's Tax Reform Task Force report that was released in June 2016 to the Ohio 2020 Tax Policy Study Commission, a constant theme was reducing the number of targeted tax deductions, credits and exemptions would lead to a lower overall rate enjoyed by all taxpayers and allow for needed revenue generation. This cleaner approach also makes the income tax more transparent. A simpler, more predictable income tax system will bode well for compliance with tax laws and ease of administration.

However, the report recommended one area where an additional tax expenditure should be considered: fixing Ohio's marriage tax penalty. Currently, married couples filing a joint Ohio income tax return may qualify for a tax credit. To qualify for this credit each spouse must have qualifying Ohio adjusted gross income of at least $500 after adjustments. Qualifying Ohio adjusted gross income does not include social security, interest, dividends, capital gains, rents, royalties and other passive income. The credit is limited to a maximum of $650, an amount that has not been adjusted since 1989. (See Appendix 3.)

The Joint Filing Credit was created to offset the tax penalty created for married couples as a result of Ohio's single tax rate table, but usually does not fully cover the additional tax due. In Ohio, a married couple filing a joint tax return pays a higher income tax than a married couple filing separately or two single individuals with the same amount of income. Ohio requires the filing status on the Ohio return to be consistent with the federal filing status but again only provides one rate schedule. Our neighboring states either allow a different filing status than the one used for federal purposes or have a single tax rate both of which mitigate the inequity of the marriage tax penalty.

The current joint filing credit in some cases requires extra documentation, typically does not rectify the inequity between two single filers and a married couple filing joint and can create additional filing complexities for individuals.

The report also suggested other approaches of either allowing a different filing status for Ohio from the federal status or creating a new tax table for married filing joint returns and eliminating the credit.

Thank you again for this opportunity to offer proponent testimony on House Bill 333. I'm available to answer any of your questions.
