

To whom it may concern:

As a parent who's children deeply benefit from the EdChoice expansion program I urge you not to change it. We sent our first born to public schools for a couple of years and made the switch to Catholic education. It has been so amazing. My son is a straight A all honors student with dreams of medical school. He plans to attend St. Francis next year and will not be able to go without a voucher. Scholarships like this are how children from low income families rise up and change their life. My son talks about how when he's in a better position in life he has every intention of paying it forward. He understands the gift of education is precious. Please don't take this away from my children. My youngest is a very smart and sensitive artist. He would not transition well into out public school. The better opportunities that you give to kids like mine, the better the future will be. My kids deserve the same education that wealthy families afford theirs. They will grow up not only successful but grateful. The work needs more leadership from people who don't come from privilege. Please don't take this away from us. Please give them the empathy they deserve and don't displace our children. They are where they belong.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Grey.
