Mike DeWine
Governor
State of Ohio

March 15, 2019

Fellow Ohioans and Members of the General Assembly:

As I shared in my State of the State address, the Bible tells us that there is a time and a place for everything. Now is the time for us to invest in Ohio.

We must invest in our children to help our youngest Ohioans get the best start in life.

We must invest in efforts to fight mental health and substance use disorders so our fellow Ohioans can lead fulfilling, healthy lives.

We must invest in Ohio's workers and in innovation and technology that spurs job creation so our families can prosper.

And, we must invest in preserving and protecting Lake Erie and all of Ohio's waterways, so that all Ohioans have access to clean water and our outdoor spaces are preserved for generations to come.

The operating budget I have proposed for Fiscal Years 2020-2021 reflects these priorities. And, as you will see, I am asking that we make investments where the returns will not all be immediate. For example, we won't see right away the productive adults that Ohio's children become because of our investment in their health and wellbeing today, nor will we immediately know the lives that are saved through our efforts to prevent addiction. In many cases, we won't see results from some of our budget investments during the term of this administration or even in our lifetimes --yet, we still must act.

As we introduce this budget, the state is in strong fiscal condition, finishing Fiscal Year 2019 with a surplus, maintaining a significant balance in the Budget Stabilization Fund, and continuing to operate with a budget which is structurally balanced. This strong fiscal position enables us to pay as we go to address important issues facing the citizens of Ohio with this budget that supports our vision for Ohio.

I quoted the words of Robert Louis Stevenson in my State of the State address. He said, "Don't judge each day by the harvest you reap, but [rather] by the seeds that you plant." The FY 2020-2021 budget we have proposed today plants the seeds of hope and possibility that will lead to opportunity for future generations of Ohioans, for our investments today will help our fellow Ohioans live lives of self-sufficiency tomorrow.

Very respectfully yours,

Budget Overview

Investing in Ohio's Workforce and Innovation

In recent years, Ohio's economy has undergone a transformational change. With it, the challenge that was once to create jobs for those who needed them is now to fill all the jobs that are in-demand and in growing industries.

Today, Ohio faces a skills mismatch where businesses are held back from growth because they cannot find enough qualified workers. We also know that there are still Ohioans who are left behind by the state's economic recovery and need their skills retooled so they can break into an in-demand field.

It will be the goal of the DeWine Administration, through work led by the Governor's Office of Workforce Transformation, working with the Departments of Education, Higher Education, Jobs and Family Services and the Developmental Services Agency, to close the gap between growing workforce needs and the goals of job seekers. By doing this, we can unleash Ohio's economy and give way to a higher level of prosperity for Ohio families.

The 2020-2021 executive budget supports these new strategies by investing more than $200 million new dollars in workforce initiatives over the biennium.

Investing in Ohio's Local Communities

Communities in Ohio all have diverse needs, but local budgets throughout the state are stressed. Governor DeWine is committed to listening to the concerns of community leaders and collaborating with local government to find solutions. Governor DeWine's executive budget includes substantial investment in local partners to help them provide valuable services to citizens.

The budget identifies specific areas where state funding can support local governments and help local communities and proposes to make that investment.

Investing in Recovery

Ohio's mental health and addiction crisis impacts every county, every city, town and village – urban and rural. Governor Mike DeWine's executive budget reflects his commitment to helping those with mental health and substance use disorders. His proposal also reflects his dedication to assisting local schools, law enforcement, businesses, and other agencies that are also facing the consequences of this public health crisis.

Immediately after taking the oath of office, Governor DeWine signed an executive order creating the RecoveryOhio Advisory Council to advise the administration on critical matters concerning mental illness and substance use prevention, treatment, and recovery support services. The council's initial report includes recommendations to better assist those who are struggling to recover and to help them lead high-quality, productive lives.

Governor DeWine's executive budget for fiscal years 2020-2021 supports this priority by proposing an appropriation to invest more than $200 million in new funds across several agencies.

Investing in Ohio's Children and Families

Governor Mike DeWine has committed his career to protecting Ohio's children and families. As Governor, he wants to create an Ohio that works for all Ohio families, especially those most in need.

Through no fault of their own, too many young Ohioans reach adulthood without the tools to be self-sufficient, the skills to get a good-paying job, or the opportunity to seek better education. Tragically, many of these children started behind and stayed behind. Just 41 percent of Ohio children begin kindergarten with the skills they need to be successful in school, and only 44 percent of Ohioans have a post-secondary certification or degree.

Brain science is clear that the most important time to invest in a child's life is in their first 1,000 days. These early days create the foundation for a strong future and demonstrate a significant return on investment both for the child and the state.

Governor DeWine and Lt. Governor Jon Husted are ready to invest in an Ohio that works for all our families and provides opportunities for every child in Ohio.

Investing in Ohio's Natural Wonders

Ohio is blessed with many natural wonders, including state parks, wildlife, rivers, and lakes. Governor DeWine believes that these God-given gifts make Ohio unique and wonderful, and he believes it is extremely important to preserve the environment for future generations to enjoy.

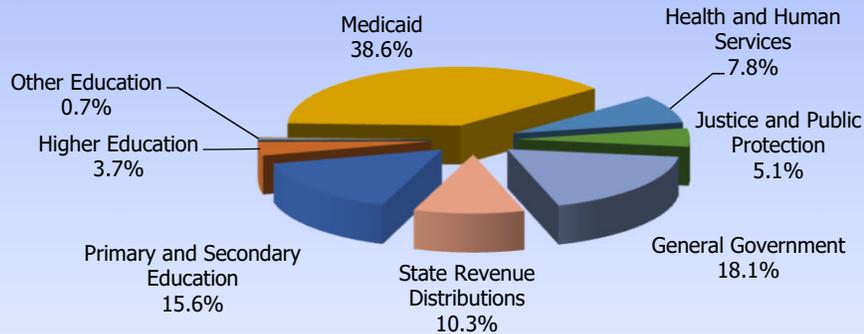

Expenditures and Appropriations by Budget Fund Group FYs 2019, 2020, 2021

Budget fund groups are categories used to group similar funds for reporting purposes. Ohio's funds are categorized according to their revenue sources and the purposes for which they are used.
