Senator Steve Wilson, Chairman
Senate Energy and Public Utilities Committee

I feel that the most important thing is to change the set back distances. They should be located much further from our homes. I am fearful of the health issues. Nobody can know for sure what they might be, these turbines being so large. We won't have that information until they are constructed and then its too late.

Getting the vote is also very important. It's the only fair way to approach this. Let the people who will be directly affected have a voice in whether we want these monstrous industrial facilities in our townships and counties. I come from a farm family and I believe that farmers should have the right to do with their land as they wish, UNLESS it infringes on my right to a peaceful and safe existence in my country home.

Another concern of mine is the decrease in property values in the area. We are retired and have worked for forty-five years making improvements to it We cannot at this point in our lives afford to experience a decrease in value of perhaps 40%.

Please support Senate Bill 234 and give the power to the people where it belongs.
