

ASD STRATEGIES IN ACTION

autism certification series

An innovative, online video training program for families and service providers

- Provides practical information and skills demonstrated with real-life examples, filmed in homes, schools, work, and community settings
- Organized by age, from early childhood through young adulthood, and by strategy to allow easy access to the information that is most relevant to the user
- Begins with a FREE 1.5 hour introductory course and offers subscription options for advanced coursework
All coursework free to Ohioans
- Gives practitioners the option to earn professional development hours and continuing education credit from many participating organizations
- Designed so that every user can gain knowledge and implement the skills learned immediately

"It is a must for anyone working with children with ASD. My colleagues and I feel everyone in our building should be required to take this course. It provides so much practical help. And it reinforces the essential message - presume competency."
