Detailed Fiscal Analysis

The bill specifies: (1) that a real property owner does not owe a duty of care to a trespasser on the property except to refrain from willful, wanton, or reckless conduct that is likely to cause injury, death, or other loss to the trespasser, and (2) the circumstances in which the owner may be liable in a tort action for the death or injury of a trespasser. As these provisions essentially codify existing common law in Ohio, the bill will have no direct fiscal effect either on the state or any of its political subdivisions, in particular the courts that would have jurisdiction over such matters.
