

Testimony before the House Finance Subcommittee on Primary and Secondary Education

March 16, 2017

Chairman Cupp, Ranking Member Miller and members of the subcommittee, thank you for the opportunity to testify in support of continued full funding for INFOhio.

I'm Theresa M. Fredericka, Director of INFOhio. I want to acknowledge the Management Council and the members of the Ohio Education Computer Network for the leadership they have provided school libraries. Creating a robust technical foundation, they have overseen the transition of school libraries from a print environment to a digital environment; they have facilitated the transformation much needed in our state to support digital learning.

Since 1995, INFOhio has cost effectively—and more importantly, equitably—provided vital digital resources to all PreK-12 schools, public, private, charter, online, and home schools as indicated in our By the Numbers provided to you with our testimony.

I would also like to acknowledge for their leadership the members of Libraries Connect Ohio which includes OPLIN (representing public libraries), OhioLINK (representing university libraries), and the State Library of Ohio, in addition to INFOhio. We pool our funds to take advantage of economies of scale in licensing agreements for digital content, which reduces the cost for all of us, thereby reducing the cost for the state of Ohio as a whole. This partnership gives a great advantage for Ohio's PreK-12 education.

The digital content that INFOhio provides is illustrated on our Teach Learn flyer. You will find high-quality, reliable resources that support Ohio's Learning Standards. These are not available for free on the Internet. 96% of Ohio schools report that they could not provide these resources without INFOhio.

It is over 500,000 magazine and newspaper articles, multimedia encyclopedias for all grade levels, primary sources such as the text of presidential speeches, eBooks, lesson plans, educational videos, STEM experiments, images, diagrams, and more.

What does this $1.1 million cut mean to Ohio's 1.9 million PreK-12 students, their teachers, and their parents? You will hear from one district – Wapakoneta City Schools - some of the ways these resources that are free to all Ohio schools, are being used daily to improve instruction.

Thank you.

Testifying on behalf of INFOhio:

William Snyder, Principal, Wapakoneta City Schools

Dawn Rankin, Instructional Coach, Wapakoneta City Schools

“There is no doubt that literacy is the single most significant skill we can teach young children to prepare them for their future. INFOhio opens the world of reading by providing equitable access to a variety of resources for all students, no matter what their reading levels. These resources help develop reading skills K-3 with engaging and relevant formats, while introducing young learners to digital tools necessary in a technological world.”

– Michelle J. Elia, Early Literacy Specialist, Special Education Consultant, State Support Team Region 5

“For Ohio’s students to develop the information literacy skills they need to engage with the digital materials used in universities and in future career opportunities, the rich collection of educational resources and services that INFOhio provides to all Ohio PreK-12 students is essential. INFOhio’s partnership with OhioLINK, OPLIN, and the State Library of Ohio lets Ohio’s libraries cooperatively and cost-effectively provide learning resources to all Ohioans at all stages of life.”

– Sara Bushong, Dean, Bowling Green State University Libraries

State and federal funds provide these online resources for all public and nonpublic PreK-12 schools, students, their parents, and educators across Ohio free of charge. The INFOhio Digital Library (the Core Collection) is brought to you by Libraries Connect Ohio, a partnership of Ohio's library networks—INFOhio (PreK-12), OhioLINK (higher education), and OPLIN (public)—and the State Library of Ohio. Access to these resources is funded in part through an Institute of Museum and Library Services LSTA grant awarded by the State Library of Ohio. The content does not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the granting agencies.
