ENACTMENT: SB33 is an exercise in intimidation. It cannot take away my First Amendment rights. No one can. But the bill seems to be written in such a way that could dissuade citizens from voicing their opposition or assembling with others to show their displeasure. Language that suggests fines or felony charges is misleading and, frankly, unnecessary. It is only meant to confuse and frighten. The legislation is unnecessary since there are already plenty of laws that prohibit trespass and vandalism.
