Tina Husted Bio:

Tina Husted is the wife of Jon Husted, who is in his 1st term as Lieutenant Governor of Ohio and a mother of 2 daughters, Katie (9) and Kylie (7). She is an entrepreneur and has begun and managed three businesses on her own- as a real estate broker (Street Sotheby's International Realty), a personal coach and ART therapist (A.R.T. Squared), and an artist (Tinas Pastels).

She is a member of Riverside United Methodist Church where singing with the agape choir and contemporary praise groups gives her great joy. She also serves on the Staff Parish Committee where she assists in church staff issues. Most recently, she was able to obtain a national license for a non-profit called The Open Table (a mentoring group for homeless and or those who are in poverty) and serves as the Mission Leader. She considers her faith in Christ the most central part of who she is and Whose light she intends to shine into the world as much as possible.

Tina served as a board member of Franklin County's CASA (court appointed special advocates) and is currently a member of the CASA Ohio State board. In 2007, she graduated as a class member of the Jo Ann Davidson of Ohio Women's Leadership Group. She also is a regular blood donor to the American Cross, an avid supporter of Organ donation, and an originator of Dan's Fund-a brain cancer endowment fund her family started in honor of her late father, Dan Zwyer.

Tina Husted (Zwyer) was born in Bucyrus Ohio and attended Colonel Crawford High School where she was an All-Ohio Honorable Mention Basketball Point Guard and a multi-year State Champion in Track and Field.

She went on to college at Ohio University where majored in Physical Therapy with a minor in psychology and ran track under the former coach Elmore Banton during which time she specialized in the 1500m (4:38pr). During her years at Ohio University she was a volunteer at the student health center's physical therapy department as well as with Ohio Department of Youth Services serving in a "big sister" capacity.

After the blessing of motherhood, Tina re-ignited her running career and began focusing on longer distances of the marathon, 50k, and 50 mile races. From late 2009 until 2014 she ran many of these races which culminated in her being named as one of the country's top 15 masters female runners in 2014 by Runner's World Magazine. Her personal best marathon is 2:46:55 at the Philadelphia Marathon in November 2014. This re-entry into running also re-ignited her interest in coaching (3 years at Worthington Kilbourne both track and cross country) and rehabilitation with treatment technique for endurance athletes called A.R.T. (active release techniques) which she became certified in early 2014 while starting her business personal coaching and therapy business (A.R.T. Squared).

In her free time, Tina engages her creative side through art using pastel chalk as a preferred medium. She can also work in pencil, watercolor, and acrylics. She sells originals as well as prints through her website (tinaspastels.com).
