When I was on probation for my addiction, I lost everything, including my kids. The system took my kids away from me, and placed them with another family that was in active drug use. While on probation, I was asked to do several programs to help me be a better parent and overcome my addiction. But probation was often inflexible. SB 3 needs to reform probation so that parents are supported, not being penalized. Our systems need to work and conspire for our success, not our failure.
