I am here because I believe in treatment and mental and emotional health over incarceration. I've lost my own kids from incarceration and addiction. I've seen them struggle. I have struggled. How we treat people in active use only hurts people, it doesn't support them. Why do we want to drive people further into trauma and suffering through prison? This only hurts our families and communities. By making reclassification retroactive, this is a step to in undoing past harm. We can redirect the savings back into our communities to let healing happen.
