

As an educator, I am extremely concerned about this legislation. Anyone who handles a firearm should be adequately trained on how to use it. In past years I have shot rifles in controlled settings with trained professionals, and gradually learned how to do so correctly. And I did so at targets and objects. To ask someone to shoot a student or intruder is not the responsibility of teachers. Confusion, chaos, familiarity, possible use by others, all must be considered. Hire security guards who are required to be trained in these kinds of situations. Seven hours? You need more than that to get a driver's license!
