

I believe God is the creator of all and I would love a personal peaceful home birth without the drugs and medication. I want to birth in my own home and be comfortable while I'm in labor and put full trust in God and my midwife. In my eyes she is better than a hospital because doctors and hospitals are constantly rushing things along and not letting you have a peaceful birth experience. My last birth was at a hospital and I did not appreciate the rush of things and not being able to have my own voice and choice of Pitocin. Which I believe made my pain and contractions worse. They were just giving it to me to rush my labor so I wasn't there for days. I appreciate my midwife and I do not want her regulated because it limits my options of homebirth. Thank you
