

My name is Tetyana Solovyova. I am a registered nurse with 10 years of experience in the medical field. As a medical professional, I understand that one-size-fits-all solutions are not a good idea when it comes to personal choices. I understand concerns about vaccination as any other medical intervention, it has high risk of side effects. There should not be any mandatory procedures related to personal health. As a medical professional, I understand ethical concerns that a person may have in regards to vaccination. As a patient advocate, I strongly believe that vaccination should be voluntary and confidential, and should be treated as a personal choice as personal health-protected information.
