

My name is Danny Holbrook. For 28 years I have worked in the juvenile justice system and in two public school systems . The last two years I have substituted in several different school settings and working at a local television station . I have found that because of the state of Ohio allowing non bachelor degrees candidates to substitute teach in the classroom i am providing a valuable and much needed service to area school districts as there is a huge demand for people like me to help.