

I am certain that you have received thousands of arguments explaining why HB 322 is dangerous, so I will not engage in lengthy rhetoric. I ask that you read the article posted here: <https://www.edjohnsonproject.com/history?fbclid=IwAR1bS8FkpIXQTZi8FA8BSWPCfrKPiV5Ui47r6q5wUgeqXht-UaaKQYaWELQ> It eloquently explains how honesty in sharing past events contributes to healing in a community. I have lived in Bowling Green for more than 50 years, but I was born and raised in Chattanooga. Believe me, the memorial to Ed Johnson is a giant step forward from the past and will go a long way in healing divisions, not causing them, and bringing that community together. Honesty in education is the only good way forward.

Best regards,

Janet B. Parks, Professor Emerita
Bowling Green State University
419-376-1799