

I have been hosting for airbnb for 6 years and often have newcomers to Cincinnati who are looking for real estate or considering moving or to the city. It is often being an ambassador to the city or the neighborhood. I also find that some of my guests are people grew up in the neighborhood and look to airbnb to return to visit family and businesses that they love. Please consider that it is a very positive way for the city to attract & house newcomers and returners.

Sincerely,

Lori Horton