

Being a host for Airbnb for a little less than a year has afforded me so many opportunities in the since that I'm able to create an additional income for the future of my family. It allows me to offer temporary living for individuals who may be in town for work, school, vacation, etc. without the hassle and responsibilities of certain services..

I also enjoy being a host because I love customer service and making my comfortable and happy. Being part of the Airbnb family has also showed me another way of giving back to people who may be in need of temporary shelter

Sincerely,
Rhonda Smith
