

I have been hosting about 2 years now. Hosting has certainly benefited myself and family as well as the community. I have hosted people from all around the world that otherwise wouldn't have come to our area. I have hosted out of towners coming for horse shows and dog shows that wouldn't have been allowed to stay at hotels otherwise. My first Airbnb property was a family farm that helps support other businesses in the area as well from seed companies to landscape and stone companies and with the way inflation is anymore the extra income has certainly helped and also allowed to continue supporting and operating the family farm.

Sincerely,
William Carey
