

Department of Philosophy
11130 Bellflower Rd.
Cleveland, Ohio 44106

May 10th, 2021

www.case.edu/artsci/phil/bendikkeymer.html

TO whom it may concern:

Patriotic Ohioans should strongly support SB 117. It is unjust to taxpayers to bail out old, inefficient coal plants. There is an overwhelming moral imperative, clear under any major ethical system that the world has to offer, to decarbonize as quickly as we can for the sake of future generations. This moral demand is a clear and justifiable demand of reason and overrides all but core duties in the present. These core duties do not include propping up coal plants that have outlived their time and are no longer economically viable. Taxpayer money must be pushed toward moral goals for all.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "JDK" or "BKR", with a large flourish above it.

Jeremy David Bendik-Keymer
Beamer-Schneider Professor in Ethics

Associate Professor of Philosophy

Senior Research Fellow, Earth System Governance Project
Universiteit Utrecht