

Hello, my name is Sarah Jones and I'm writing this to show support for Emery and Elliott's Law.

To see change so that no other mother has to go through what Amanda went through and myself. Just like Amanda my son was denied life by the medical profession. I know what it's like to feel helpless knowing the health of our children were not a priority.

My son was removed from life support on October 15, 2019, even though there was another hospital willing to treat him.

Two other doctors disagreed with my son's doctor at the hospital. They said my son might recover with treatment, after they reviewed all of his records.

To have your child die in your arms begging for their life. It's something no mother or human being should have to go through. Especially while living in the greatest country in the world the United States of America. What a blessing it is to be an American.

To have freedom and Rights, and the Best Healthcare System... That is until your put in a situation that Amanda and myself found ourselves in. When we needed the doctor and the Health System the most they failed us horribly. So much that as mothers we know that this cannot continue to happen. There needs to be change, there needs to be laws to protect families from something like this happening again. Which it is happening every day and it will continue to happen until there is laws in place to protect our family's from this monstrosity.

My son was 14 years old when he has his asthma attack. The hospital's instantly gave up hope on my son. All I asked for was time for my son to heal. I was denied that. Amanda was begging for help for someone to save her twin sons, but her pleas for help were heard and denied.

Doctors are there to exhaust all efforts to save the life of the patient. Not to give up on them. Not till your put in that situation do you realize how helpless you are and your rights mean nothing. Elliot and Emery deserved a chance at life. My son Bobby deserved a chance at life. All human beings deserve a chance at life. I pray that you listen to my testimony and that of the others and take it to heart and consider what we've went through. We have a mission now to help save others by passing laws that will save lives. No mother should have to lose their child knowing that their lives could have been saved .
