

Opponent Testimony for S.B. 293
Ohio Senate Education Committee

November 8,, 2024

Dear Chair Andrew Brenner, Vice Chair Sandra O'Brien, Ranking Member Catherine Ingram, and Esteemed Senate Education Committee Members Louis Blessing, III, Stephen Huffman, Michele Reynolds, and Vernon Sykes:

Thank you for reading my statement. My name is Amy Hsu. I am a mother of three kids who live in Richfield, OH. I am testifying in opposition to Senate Bill 293, which seeks to alter the well-established system of Released Time Religious Instruction (RTRI) by changing the permissive "may" to "shall" in Section 3313.6022 of the Ohio Revised Code. I believe this unnecessary bill threatens the autonomy of local school boards and undermines constitutional principles.

It is concerning that the primary motivation for SB 293 seems to be for nothing more than accommodating the interests of LifeWise Academy, a private religious organization. Allowing a private entity to influence state legislation and public school governance sets a dangerous precedent. It raises significant concerns about the undue influence of corporate interests on public education policy. LifeWise Academy and its leadership has been very open about directly pressuring legislators to change state law, not only in Ohio, but every state in the nation. They have already successfully persuaded lawmakers to adopt a "may to shall" language change in Indiana and Oklahoma.

School Ministries Ohio has been "training Ohio leaders to offer Released Time Bible Education" for almost 20 years, "and in 2014 [...] took the lead to educate Ohio's legislature" and credits themselves with helping not only pass, but in fact writing the current RTRI law. However they did not submit proponent testimony or publicly speak out in support of SB 293. Their silence on this proposed legislation is another factor that strongly reiterates the idea that this is being pushed by and solely for LifeWise Academy specifically.

I ask that you consider my testimony and vote "no" on SB 293.

Respectfully,

Amy Hsu
