Executive Profile

4612 Paddock Road, Cincinnati, OH 45229 (513) 513-351-7921 pittsj@pwchomerepairs.org

As President of Greater Cincinnati's unique, one-of-a-kind non-profit organization, Jock has more than two decades leading and overseeing the critical home repair, energy conservation and modification programs providing services to our low-income, elderly and disabled residents. In all cases, his goal remains the same, PWC Mission: serving the needs of our clients so they can remain in their homes living independently and healthier in a safe, sound environment.

Under his leadership, People Working Cooperatively (PWC) has earned the Better Business Bureau's Wise Giving Seal of Charitable Accountability, was named as the 2009 Non Profit of the Year by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and received the 2016 Torch Award for Marketplace Ethics from the Cincinnati Better Business Bureau (BBB). PWC has grown from providing 2,000 total services in 1987 to averaging 9,000 services every year, serving 18 counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

In February 2019 PWC successfully launched the PWC Whole Home Innovation Center, a first-of-its kind space focused on the relationship of our homes and our health. The Innovation Center offers the unique opportunity for hands on learning experience, interactive learning and discussion workshops/classes, as well as opportunities for partnerships/collaborations. Part think tank, part demonstration center, Innovation Center will serve the entire community.

Jock earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Aeronautics from Miami University of Ohio, and an MBA in Environmental Pollution Control from Pennsylvania State University. Jock is married to Deborah and has 3 wonderful children.

Jock serves on the boards for several other organizations.
