Supporting the DD Workforce

I am a DSP worker, I've been on the same job since 1996. You would not believe what I make today. It's horrible. We are under staffed, some over worked. No room to take vacations. No one wants to work in this field because of the low pay. I love and appreciate what I do. But it's becoming very difficult with not being able to take vacations like I would like. Because it's hard to feel the time slots. My co workers also have been on this same job as long as I have. We try to stick together, and help each other out as best we can.
