Supporting the DD Workforce

Theresa McCraw I am sharing today because I have a son with DD an with out the help of the DD system he would be missing out on basic needs and emotional support he needs for every day life. People who take these jobs are under paid and the work is very demanding and they work much harder then the average working person. If we don't meet the needs that they have these caring individuals will be lost and our family members that we love will not be taken care of the way they deserve. Please help our family that is in Crisis so we can put our best foot forward.
