

Hello,

As a professor at Miami University, I want to express my personal opposition to SB83. This bill is an example of a “solution in search of a problem”. The law would impair the ability of the faculty to provide the education our students deserve and would leave our students at a disadvantage upon entering the workforce. In particular, the prohibitions around teaching ‘controversial topics’ will erode critical thinking and do nothing to improve education as the fears of the bill’s sponsors are not grounded in reality. One should not legislate based on anecdotes. For the good of Ohio and our students, this bill must not pass.

Sincerely,
Paul Schaeffer
