

3/2/26

Chairperson and Members of the Committee, and Representative Phil Plummer,

House Bill 647 undermines access to quality early education and threatens the critical foundation children need to thrive. Consistency with trusted caregivers is essential for children's cognitive, social, and emotional development.

Sudden closures of childcare centers, as allowed under this bill, disrupt learning routines and prevent children from reaching important milestones. Many children would be left behind before they even start their educational journey, and the impact on their growth could be long-lasting.

Representative Plummer, I urge you to consider how essential early education is for children and families, and to oppose House Bill 647 to ensure children's learning and development are protected.

Respectfully,

SERENITY WOODRUFF
