The CPR in Schools program provided much needed resources and training that some of our high schools may not have had the funding to purchase on their own. The resources and training were top notch and very much appreciated by the schools in Lawrence County. There are many rural areas in our county where it may take a considerable amount of time for first responders to get to. Having the resources to train our young people to be able to save someone's life in an emergency is invaluable.

So many of our young people are involved in sports or outdoor activities where medical situations can occur. The ability to perform lifesaving CPR is a skill that has value to all. The training kits and resources provided through this program are tools that allow our schools to prepare students for not only the present but the future as well. Many of the participants in the program discussed how valuable these FREE tools were and how access to them could have a huge impact on students' lives.
