

This is common sense. Doctors go through Medical School in order to become Doctors. I go through searches to find the best Doctor who I feel I can trust. Nowhere in this equation should political interests or pharma-profit factor in, let alone override what my Doctor believes is best for me.