

I cannot see how censoring classroom discussion and dictating texts professors must assign is commensurate with principles of free speech, academic freedom, and limited government, nor with making Ohio as attractive as possible to top talent in all fields.