

Good afternoon everyone! My name is Qi Wang, come from Toledo ohio

I would like to introduce myself first:

I came America in 2003 for my PHD degree in environmental engineering. I have been helping a couple of American companies selling environmental products such as landfill cover materials, hydroseeders and wood fiber to China since 2008 when I got my PHD degree.

In 2017, I started buying houses and fixing these houses for renting to low income people such as Section 8. I almost do shopping at Lowes, HomeDepot, Menards every day and work at least 8 hours for these houses. My tenants like my houses because I always provide nice houses and services for them.

My points are:

1 Most of Chinese people like me who could afford houses are those who have high academic degrees and they have been contributing their talent and knowledge, as well their time and energy to this country.

2 Although we love our mother country, China very much, we personally made our decision coming to America for our dream because we also love people here and nice environment.

3 For the behavior of government to punish ordinary people is not a smart way. Forcing these smart people back to their mother countries would be very very welcome to their mother Countries. The main reason that America become a great country is that it has been attracting smart people from the world working for it

4 People like me who work at here are innocent. It doesn't make sense to punish the Kids because of the two mothers' conflict.

5 For current Tarrif war between the two countries, we have nothing to do as an ordinary people. What we could do is keeping pray for the two countries, wish the two governments would consider the benefit of the people in both countries. We wish the two countries would become more friendly each other.

Thanks!

Qi Wang
