

Hello Chair O'Brien

Our small town is a tourist attraction and we do everything we can to attract guests, suggest local attractions, refer local restaurants, and make our guest feel like they are home away from home.

If you ever get a chance to read the millions of guest reviews left on hosting websites you will quickly realize the need and purpose of hosting short term travelers.

Our small communities don't usually realize the positive impact we provide. Please support us and our efforts to boost our economy. We don't need your thanks or praise - we need your support.

I wish you the best in your future endeavors, be that private or political, and hopefully you return the gesture.
