Keegan Kennedy, Budget Analyst

The bill is expected to have a minimal fiscal effect on the state and local subdivisions. The bill exempts grand jurors' names and addresses of residence, and the signature of the grand jury foreperson from public record. State and local public offices holding relevant records may see a minimal at most increase in staff workload and resultant expenses to sequester and redact records in compliance with the bill's requirements. Any potential increase in expenses can likely be absorbed utilizing existing staff and appropriated resources.
