SUMMARY

- Increases the monthly Medicaid personal needs allowance to $100 for an individual and $200 for a married couple for participants in the assisted living program and residents of a nursing facility or intermediate care facility for individuals with intellectual disabilities.

DETAILED ANALYSIS

Personal needs allowance

H.B. 822 increases the personal needs allowance that is available under the Medicaid Program for participants in the assisted living program and individuals residing in a nursing facility or ICF/IID. A personal needs allowance is an amount of income that specified individuals may retain for personal, discretionary spending. Under current law, the personal needs allowance for individuals participating in the assisted living program or residing in a nursing facility or ICF/IID is $50 per month for an individual and $100 per month for a married couple. The bill increases these amounts to $100 per month for an individual and $200 per month for a married couple.[1]
