

Jair Crooms:

Sb3 would be a chance to reflect on issue one and to explain some key points we may have missed in the past election. I think passing sb3 would be beneficial to those who have non-violent drug offences. It would give them a chance to reintegrate in society with less burden of felony offences keeping them from employment and other important needs of life. In my neighborhood i see people work hard everyday who have drug issues rather it be on cars houses or just everyday needs , which means these people are smart and useful to society they just struggle with drug addiction , which is why i think there should be more programs for addicts including labor and creative outlets , i've never been the type to want to punish for someone for something they struggle with especially when it comes to drugs.