

Testimony Opposing SubHB 99
House Criminal Justice Committee
Submitted by Douglas Rogers
11/2/21

Chair LaRe, Vice Chair Swearingen and Ranking Member Leland, thank you for this opportunity to testify against SubHB99 (“HB99”). I graduated from Yale Law School in 1971, was a captain in the Military Police, and was a partner in the Vorys law firm in Columbus for over 20 years.

HB99 essentially chooses the FASTER training that Buckeye Firearms Association peddles for everyone in Ohio to its own advantage.¹ Instead, the General Assembly should give the Ohio Peace Officer Training Commission (OPOT) the responsibility for developing meaningful standards for the unique school environment without limiting what OPOT can recommend. HB 99 would shackle OPOT and cause insufficiently trained, armed vigilantes to enter schools and endanger students, teachers and other staff.

Article VI, section 2 of the Ohio Constitution provides: “The General Assembly shall make such provisions . . . as . . . will secure a thorough and efficient system of common schools throughout the State.” The Second Amendment permits “laws forbidding the carrying of firearms in sensitive places such as schools.” District of Columbia v. Heller, 554 U.S. 570, 626 (2008). The General Assembly must not abdicate its responsibility to protect the lives of Ohio’s school children.

The recent tragic shooting death on a movie set involving Alec Baldwin emphasizes the need for safe storage of ammunition, so accidental gun deaths do not occur. However, if HB99 passes, more loaded firearms will be brought into schools, so there will be more guns and more live ammunition for more accidents.

Even now, the number of accidental shootings and mishandled guns in schools is too high. There “have been nearly 100 publicly reported incidents of mishandled guns at schools in the last five years, including: A teacher’s loaded gun falling from his waistband during a cartwheel ... A teacher unintentionally firing a gun in class during a safety demonstration.” <https://giffords.org/lawcenter/report/every-incident-of-mishandled-guns-in-schools/> See attached Exhibit A for more detail.

There is no provision in HB99 for the safe storage or use of firearms in schools or the regulation of how schools must monitor the teachers, coaches or whoever a board “authorized to go armed while in a school safety zone.” In fact, the bill specifically provides that the persons “authorized to go armed while in a school safety zone” are “not being employed as a special police officer or security officer.” (proposed §109.78((D)(2) at lines 300 – 311).

Since they cannot be employed as “security officers,” why would they even be permitted to carry loaded firearms into schools? Of course the local school board would intend the teacher, coach or neighbor to provide security, but proponents do not want to regulate the exercise of that power.

They would therefore turn the teachers, coaches or neighbors into vigilantes - insufficiently trained ones at that.

HB99 overlooks Ohio's successful school resource officer program (R.C. §3313.951 and <https://osroa.org/> . In order to be a school resource officer, a police officer who has already completed 737 hours of police officer training must also take an additional 40 hour course. See R.C. §3313.951(B)(1)(b). Why require a school resource officer to have 40 hours of additional training beyond her/his 737 hours, but allow teachers, coaches and other volunteers to bring loaded guns into schools with no peace officer training (the 737 hours of training), only 18 hours of "general training" and only 2 hours of "handgun training"?

Under HB99, the State would leave the teachers, coaches and neighbors on their own on how to use the firearm in schools. There is nothing in the bill that mandates the State - or local school boards - to specify the responsibilities of the persons carrying guns or the use of the loaded guns that the teachers, coaches and neighbors will carry into schools.

In the case of school resource officers, on the other hand, the school district and the law enforcement agency must enter into a memorandum of understanding that addresses:

(b) Background requirements ... including an understanding of child and adolescent development;

(c) ... age-appropriate practices for conflict resolution and developmentally informed de-escalation and crisis intervention methods;

(d) Clearly defined roles, responsibilities, and expectations of the parties involved"

R.C. §3313.951(C)(2). HB99, in contrast, places no responsibility on either the local school district or State to define the role and responsibility of the teacher, coach or local neighbor with a loaded gun in the school. Without more, these teachers, coaches or neighbors will be vigilantes left to their own discretion - or lack of discretion.

HB99 gives a nod to experts – OPOT - to make recommendations on firearm training for persons "authorized to go armed while in a school safety zone." However, HB99 neuters what OPOT can do with respect to training rules and establishes a dangerously low ceiling for the state rules. Proposed R.C. §109.805(A)(1)(b) provides that there will be 18 hours of "general training" and then adds, "The number of hours of training shall not exceed eighteen hours." Proposed 109.805 (A)(2)(b) provides for 2 hours of handgun training and adds "the number of hours of training shall not exceed two hours." Proposed 109.805 (A)(2)(b) calls for rules for 2 hours of additional training and adds "the number of hours of training shall not exceed two hours."

The General Assembly should instead give OPOT the responsibility to use its full expertise to propose rules – without limitations on the amount and type of training in those rules - for authorizing teachers, coaches and neighbors to bring loaded firearms into schools.

Some may point out that proposed 2923.122(G)(3)(b) provides that local school boards may require more training. However, it makes no sense to put limits on what the experts – OPOT - may recommend and then say the local school districts may override what the experts say and call for more training, especially when the school districts do not have the expertise of OPOT and local school districts will be deterred from making such recommendations, because they would have to pay. HB99 is an abdication of state responsibility to “secure a thorough and efficient system of common schools throughout the State.”

Please do not follow the lead of the Pied Piper – the extreme gun lobby. Please instead choose OPOT expertise to protect Ohio’s children and grandchildren. Please reject Buckeye Firearms FASTER training and HB99 in its current form.

Thank you very much, and please let me know if you have any questions.

Last year the chiefs of police of Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown opposed reducing firearm training to 8 hours: “Significantly reducing firearm training for school personnel will make our schools less safe and increase the likelihood that a student will be unintentionally harmed or killed by a firearm in a school.”

The National Association of School Resource Officers strongly recommended that “no firearms be on a school campus except those carried by carefully selected, specially trained school resource officers (SRO’s),” who are already police officers. <https://www.nasro.org/news/2018/02/22/news-releases/nasro-opposes-arming-teachers/>
