

Thank you for the opportunity to present our support for HB 248. I would love to be able to be there in person but, as this hearing is taking place, I will be seeing clients at our wellness clinic in Medina, Ohio. Many of our clients found us searching for a place that can offer hope and healing of vaccine related injuries, so I have chosen to speak out on their behalf since they are incredibly under represented and largely maligned by those who benefit the most from Big Pharma.

The freedom to abstain from vaccines (or any other medical procedure or product) is a fundamental human right that must be protected. The decision to abstain or receive an injection should be made based on both conscience and health and should NOT be manipulated by threats of being excluded from society or promises of special benefits. There are many reasons why someone would choose not to receive a vaccine.

In my family, our reasons are based on both faith and what we know to be sound health science. Although the reason we abstain should really not be anyone's business we choose to share in the hope that wise decisions will be made.

Our deeply held religious beliefs and practices prohibit us from consuming any product produced using material from other humans, monkeys, sharks, pigs, dogs, etc. - all of which are used in vaccine development. This requirement is shared by tenets of Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The principles of our faith also prohibit us from injecting any mRNA platform/software products (as Moderna describes on their website) as they are designed to overwrite the information our bodies receive via natural, God-given biological processes. Any attempt to alter the design function of our created bodies is an affront to both creation and the Creator.

Even if we did not have a conscientious objection, we refuse on the grounds of health science. There are many things that we know about the immune system and yet, at the same time, we are making discoveries about it all the time. Only SIX years ago scientists discovered vessels in the brain that they eventually would call the “glymphatic system” - part of the immune system that had never been seen before and is still somewhat of a mystery to us. Our kind has managed to survive millennia due to the ever-adjusting, powerful immune defenses. There is no amount of foreign substances that we can forcibly create a response to that will ever be able to compete with what we are born with. In fact, if you ever take the time to read a vaccine ingredient list, you would see that many of them are also causes of various diseases. Wise and traditionally valued elements such as exercise, being in the sun, drinking clean water, eating healthful food, having positive emotions and attitudes, social interactions, breathing fresh air, etc. are by far the best way to promote health in a community. These actions produce benefit without risk. Vaccines, on the other hand, have questionable benefits with undeniable risk. We choose to support health through healthful choices.

All of that being said, it is so hard to believe we have so quickly arrived to a place in our society that we need to come and ASK for our personal, medical decisions to be respected and to remain private. It is hard to believe that Ohioans are at risk of losing the ability to participate in normal life events based on whether or not they have received a medical intervention that they may not even be medically permitted to take. The right to move freely, pursue life and liberty is a God-given right which, shockingly, is now up for debate and at risk of being violated merely for the fear that the injections others have taken to protect them won't actually work. Allowing a medical intervention to be the standard by which we work, study and engage with each other will create the biggest societal chasm in our history. We will have 2 Ohios that will result in an unprecedented fracturing of our culture.

Please do the right thing before God, before your fellow brother and sister and before the Constitution - codify equal protection and equal access to all. Stand in favor of medical freedom!

Thank you and God bless, Kimberly Kubitza
