5759 Tamarack Blvd Apt A

Columbus, OH 43229

To the State of Ohio Legislature:

My name is Brandy Seymour and I am the sister of a brother who is in his last year of college at the Ohio State University. I am also the sister-in-law to my sister's husband who has worked for Ohio Wesleyan University as a track coach for more than 15 years. The reason I support House Bill 248 is because both of my family members have been put into a stressful decision to make about their health and well-being by both Ohio universities. If my brother wants to be able to finish his education, and to attend much needed classes at the university on location he is being told in order to do so he must get "vaccinated."

If my brother-in-law wants to be able to continue doing his work nurturing, and training college athletes, as well as supporting his family financially, he must choose to be "vaccinated" or leave an employer he has been loyal to. My brother is now in a position where he has to decide whether or not the money he has worked so hard to put together to gain a college degree in order to have an edge in society is worth losing, or potentially risking his own future, or any possible future of having his own family one day. There are many medical professionals, and individuals reporting strange fertility issues after having had or been around those who have had this vaccine. I fear if HB 248 does not pass then many who are choosing not to become a part of an experimental emergency medical trial are going to be harmed by having to make such a decision. There are many who have already chosen to be a part of these trials that have reported permanent harm has come to themselves and their health. There are those who have already lost family members due to their bodies not being able to handle this dangerous vaccine. No person or family should be placed into a decision where they are forced or coerced into making a choice that they would not make otherwise.

It is clear that this vaccine is being pushed by specific entities within our society. Their agenda is clear and their true agenda was not appropriately discussed with the public prior to rolling this out. Many parts of the mainstream media are not properly investigating this issue and they are promoting vaccinations as if they were promoting the latest and greatest candy bar on the market. In my lifetime I have never seen a medical experiment so boldly and strongly promoted to the public. Every radio station, every news channel, most employers, large businesses, and even leaflets are found on my door hard core desiring to convince me they know what is best for me and my family members. This behavior of our "trusted" institutions is a page straight out of Nazi Europe. We cannot allow this unchecked reckless agenda to destroy our American society. I urge the legislative body to support protecting the Constitutional rights of all Ohioans. I ask for a yes vote on House Bill 248.

Thank you once again for this opportunity to provide testimony on the need for and urgency of House Bill 248.

Sincerely,

-Brandy Seymour
