

Good afternoon, Rep. Wiggman,

My name is Trenten Hunt and I'm a current student at The Ohio State University located in Columbus, Ohio. I have received emails from my professors about these two bills that are to be voted on this Wednesday, HB322 and HB327.

My professors want to rally against these bills and have emailed students, including me, in their respected departments to gain support for their cause against these two bills.

Upon reading these bills to inform myself what is going on, I am following their advice to email you.

I just wanted to say that I support the passing of HB322 and HB327.

The teaching of critical race theory, that a "certain race" is inherently racist, that America is bad, etc., does no justice to students and is a complete waste of time, energy, and money for students. The one sidedness of current events and controversial issues that come from these curriculums is an insult, (need I say it is always supporting the Democratic agenda). Whatever happened to teaching both sides of an issue if chosen to do so? In my 5 years of college, I have only ever met ONE professor who has done this and I hold him to high esteem.

I remember in 2018, I had to take a required Gen Ed course to fulfill a "Contemporary Issues" credit, required for graduation. I was recommended COMLDR 3535, Cultural Proficiency. This course promoted the idea that "whites hold all of the power and are inherently racist" and more that would go against these bills. I ended up failing this course because I just couldn't deal with it anymore, and the students started to become hostile towards me just for being a white man.

In summary, I support the passing of HB322 and HB327. Anyways, keep fighting the good fight.
