

It is imperative that Ohio do everything to curtail fossil fuel extraction and use in order to combat climate change. Reducing fossil fuel use in Ohio will improve not only our environment but also the health of all Ohioans. Ohio will also improve local economies by supporting renewable energy through increased manufacturing, installation, and reduced energy costs for individuals and businesses. There is no downside for Ohio to promoting renewable energy in Ohio and a huge cost to continuing with fossil fuel use.