Dear Representatives + Senators,

I live and own a farm in the Emerson Creek wind farm. I strongly support the Reineke Referendum. The people that live here need to be able to have a vote as to whether these developers should come into our area.

We are a residential and agricultural area, not an industrial area. I'm concerned about what these turbines will do to my health and the health of my neighbors. Not only is my concern about whether life flight can get to us in case of accidents but what the damage infrasound will do to our bodies, hearing and interruption of sleep patterns.

There are concerns of the damage these turbines will do to the environment. Everything from the damage to land, now, wild life and our roads. Once these are built and at some point need to be replaced they can't be recycled. It makes no sense to save the environment.

At these so called informational meetings. They esuded answering questions, gave half truths and set up the meetings so that anyone who had a disability had difficulty. There were no chairs so that someone with a walker could sit down. I still have not gotten a satisfactory answer to what happens if they catch fire. I finally got one person to tell me that if a tornado hits one of these that the blades would probably break into pieces and go flying. The standard answer is when it gets too windy they will stop the blades.

Please allow the residents in these wind farms have a chance to vote on these wind farms. Please increase the setbacks for our safety.

Sincerely,

Jucille E. Diehm
