

Dear Representative Lipps,

I am an international flight attendant purser for a major airline. I fly to Europe and the UK and like my job a lot. I believe that as a citizen of this free country I should decide if I get a vaccine or not. My parents escaped a communist country so I would have that choice.

Because the vaccine is experimental and the pharmaceutical companies are not liable. I am very concerned about the safety of it. Vaccine mandates and vaccine passports are not something a free country like the United States should have. They go against the constitution and mock freedom.

Thank You,

Susan Connaughton
