

HB33 Creating Consistency for Caretakers

A bill to allow child support to follow the child

HB33

CURRENT LAW

Ensures that child support follow the child and reaches the person caring for the child

Different outcomes cause confusion and delay for all involved

Enables support to be redirected back to a parent when circumstances change

Support orders are not redirected or established in all cases where it would be proper

Provides notice and opportunity to be heard for all parties

In some counties, appellate case law prevents child support from reaching the person caring for the child

Creates a consistent process to address child support when a caretaker is involved

Caretakers are treated inconsistently across the state
